Six people killed in two car crash near Carnarvon

Six people, including four students from Haliburton Highlands Secondary School, died Friday night in a violent, two-car collision on Highway 35, 4.6 km. north of Carnarvon. A fifth student is in hospital in Peterborough suffering major injuries.

Dead are Jeffery W. Hutchings, 18, of Haliburton, driver of one car; Rodney D. Gorveatt, 18, of R.R. #2, Minden (Carnarvon); Penny Pripp, 16, of Haliburton; and Wendy E. Schell, 17, of Haliburton, passengers in hutchings' car; Donald C. Faulkner 53 of Peterborough, driver of the second car, and Barbara G. Faulkner, 50, of Peterborough, his passenger.

Taken to St. Joseph's Hospital in Peterborough was Joe Dollo Jr., 18 of Minden, a passenger in the Hutchings vehicle. He was reported in stable condition following surgery.

The students were returning from a party in the Hall's Lake area at approximately 11 p.m. when the accident occurred.

The Hutchings' vehicle was southbound when it went out of control immediately south of Foster's Store and skidded sideways into the path of the Faulkner vehicle.

The force of the impact completely destroyed both vehicles.

Coroner Dr. Blair Pierce attended the scene and ordered post mortems on all of the victims. No inquest has so far been ordered.

News of the deaths sent shock waves through the community.

A special memorial service was held Monday morning at Haliburton Highlands Secondary School involving local ministers, staff, students and members of the students' council. Funeral services for Jeffery Hutchings and Wendy Schell were held Monday, while services for Rodney Gorveatt and Penny Pripp were held Tuesday.

Jeffery Hutchings was the son of Joan and Vic Hutchings of Haliburton.

Wendy Schell was the daughter of Les and Ruth Schell of Haliburton.

Rodney Gorveatt was the son of Rodney and Lillian Gorveatt of Carnarvon.

Penny Pripp was the daughter of Hans and Eileen Pripp of Haliburton.

The cast and crew of the Highlands Little Theatre were busy this week putting the finishing touches on the set for their production of Agatha Christie's 'A Murder is Announced'. The play goes this Friday and Saturday night at Haliburton Highlands Secondary School.

Dysart accepts new offences act

by Sue Cooper

The Municipality of Dysart et al will probably be saving a considerable amount of money on court costs after implementing the new provincial offences act.

The municipality should save money since fewer cases will now have to go to court, according to by-law enforcement officer, Bob English.

The new program, which became law in April, 1980, has been used by the police forces but according to English, very few municipalities have taken the initiative to enact it.

Now that it is in force, defendants involved in municipal infractions will be able to settle the cases out of court if they wish, English said.

In this way the municipality will save money since fewer lawyers will have to be hired to fight court proceedings, and as well, the by-law enforcement officer will not be required to spend as much time in court.

When a defendant is served with a summons in which the pre-set fine is under $300 he has three choices, English said. The defendant may choose to plead guilty to a Justice of the Peace and give

Lawyers argue over legality of closure

Stanhope council may face court over by-law

In a decision that may well lead the township into a court action, Stanhope council passed a by-law to close a section of original allowance for road that a county court judge ruled earlier this year should remain open.

At their regular meeting last Wednesday, council decided to close to vehicular traffic only, a portion of the original allowance for road in front of a Maple Lake cottage belonging to Hubert Moss. For years the allowance has been used as a driveway for the cottage next door even after requests from Moss that the practice be stopped.

Earlier this year the two neighbours, Olgierd Chicowski and Leon Dragon, launched a court action against the Moss family to keep the roadway open.

The Moss family had put barracades in front of their cottage so the allowance could not be used by vehicles, but the county court judge ordered Moss to remove the barricades and pay damages to Chicowski and Dragon.

Moss then approached council in an effort to have the road allowance closed since he felt Dragon and Chicowski could gain access to their property if a driveway were constructed at the rear of the cottages.

Council listened to presentations from a solicitor representing Dragon and Chicowski, Mr. Victor and from Moss's lawyer, Doug McMullen.

During the presentations, council's solicitor Jim Cruikshanks was on hand to discuss legal points with the other solicitors.

Victor, who made a presentation against closing the road allowances, told council that it might be held contempt of court if it closed the allowance.

"I submit you would be acting in contravention of a judgement of county court," Victor told council.

However, McMullen argued council would not be in contempt of court if the allowance was closed.

"I don't think the court intended to run your community. I do not believe you would be in contempt of court," he told council.

Dragon and Chicowski could have improved the access which leads onto the rear of their property for a professional estimate of $800, McMullen said. He also pointed out the county court judge noted in part of his decision that the road allowance was not the only convenient means of access to the property.

However, Victor countered that the rear entrance to the property was not a convenient access since it entailed walking over hills to get to the cottage.

"If you were a mountain goat" the rear access could be used, Victor said.

At one point during the seven-year feud, Dragon and Chicowski did use the rear entrance "in fear of their lives," Victor said. He added later in his remarks that the back entrance had never been used.

McMullen then latched onto the meaning of the word convenient access, saying

Incident near Highland Grove sparks renewed concern

School bus patrols needed: OPP

Concerned about dangers associated with busing students, Minden Ontario Provincial Police have asked the Haliburton County Board of Education to consider implimenting school bus safety patrols.

At a meeting with the board's transportation committee earlier this month, OPP representatives outlined the risks presented by unruly students on the buses and by the loading and unloading process.

According to an OPP press release, the proposal to the board "is a result of activities which some students have been participating in during school bus runs." Police say "a serious safety problem" is presented by students who throw things and by those who move from seat to seat while the bus is moving. They fear these actions might indirectly cause a collision.

A second, and more serious danger occurs when students get on or off buses along busy roadways. The committee was told about a close call that occurred in the Highland Grove area resently when a bus unloading students was passed by a dump truck. Apsley OPP, who investigated the incident, say a potentially fatal accident was averted only because the mother of a four-year old student was present and managed to pull the child back from the path of the truck.

To explain the function of school bus patrols, the committee was shown a 20-minute film illustrating patrols in use by many boards in the province.

There are normally two patrollers on each bus, OPP told the committee, and the initial cost of belts for the patrollers would not be more than $5 per bus. Police also told the committee that additional insurance is usually also put on the patroller through the school board policies at "a relatively low cost".

A decision on the matter is expected to be made at the board's monthly meeting next Tuesday evening.

Three members of the group 'Maple Sugar' put on a concert for most of the county's school children last Friday as a warmup for an evening concert sponsored by the Haliburton Highlands Guild of Fine Arts. The concert was the first in a series of four scheduled over the next few months. The series is sold out.

Council urged to hire consultant to outline work

Minden streets 'deficient': MTC

The Ministry of Transportation and Communications has agreed that many of Minden's streets are "deficient structurally" and that the problems "can be attributed to sewer reconstruction".

Don Glashan, assistant to the municipal engineer in the ministry's Huntsville office, made the statement in a letter to council read at a meeting last Wednesday.

The letter gives strong support to council's position on the road conditions in its fight with the Ministry of the Environment.

Glashan made his observations following an on-site inspection earlier this year. But he was cautious about the exact amount of work that would be required to bring the roads up to MTC standards.

"Recommending certain treatment based on visual observation may not produce a satisfactory product," he wrote. "It is our recommendation that a consultant be retained to prepare a cost estimate on this proposed work."

The report would include a soils investigation with recommended granular depths, surface types and widths and a drainage systme, Glashan said.

Once the study is completed, council would be able to "establish the priorities and prepare a budget program that would probably extend over a period of two to three years," Glashan said.

"Dependanty on the report, a decision could be made whether to proceed with the work on a day labour basis or retain the consultant to prepare plans and call contracts."

If the report is completed and council decides to proceed with construction in that year, or the year following, the MTC would subsidize the cost of the report at the township's normal subsidy rate, Glashan informed council.

If the report is shelved, it would be subsidized only when work to improve the streets gets underway, the letter said.

Glashan concluded by recommending that council obtain a number of quotations for the study before commis-

New Catholic church may be started as early as next fall

The congregation of St. Anthony's Catholic Church may start building their new church as early as next fall according to building committee chairman Paul Morissette.

The committee is now in the process of finalizing the route which will be taken to build the new church. According to Morissette the committee is leaning towards selling the present buildings and lot and then purchasing a new and larger lot which might accommodate a differently designed church as well as ample parking facilities.

At present, the church functions fairly well in the winter months but is totally inadequate during the summer months when the Catholic population triples, Morissette said.

The building committee is looking at a total cost of

There was plenty of action in the gymnasium of Haliburton Highlands Senior Elementary School last weekend as teams from Ontario and the USA turned up to compete in a floor hockey tournament. Team members were billeted in the homes of families around the community. A large number of spectators were on hand throughout the tournament, which featured action in boys and girls divisions.

Antlerless deer permits reduce kill

MNR hopes new regulations will help build up dwindling herds

Although exact figures have not been received yet, the Ministry of Natural Resources says this year's deer kill appears to be down.

Approximately two-thirds of the deer that would normally be shot, were saved due to the new antlerless deer permit, according to Dave Atkinson on the Minden district of the MNR.

Does and fawns usually make up two-thirds of the kill, Atkinson said, but very few were shot since the number of antlerless deer permits were limited.

In areas 54 and 56 which are comprised mainly of Haliburton County, only 81 antlerless deer permits were distributed. The hunters who received the permits were picked by a computer in Toronto on a lottery type-basis.

Atkinson said that although there had been complaints from some hunters who felt the system might show favourtism, it would be impossible for the computer to select hunters on anything but a random basis.

The antlerless deer program is an attempt to improve the herds in many areas. Atkinson said the deer population in the area had reached a critical level as it had been steadily declining for many years.

Last year, the ministry conducted a survey and estimated the deer population in the district was a low 2,000, Atkinson said.

With the new program the deer population should increase as it has in other test areas. Michigan and other north-eastern states have had good success rates with the program, Atkinson said.

"It's (the deer population) bound to come up," he said.

Before the hunt there seemed to be concern by the public that many does and fawns would be left in the bush to die if a hunter who did not have a permit shot one, Atkinson said.

However the opposite seemed to prove to be true, with only two reports of wounded does and fawns, and no dead deer discovered in the bush, Atkinson said.

In fact, hunters seemed to enjoy this year's hunt, more because they had a chance to sit and watch the deer instead of shooting them.

"They seemed to enjoy looking at them," Atkinson said.

Some of the hunting pressure was relieved from this area this year because there was an open season in the southern part of the province, Atkinson said. The two or three day season seemed to eliminate most of the day hunters who would otherwise have come into the district, he said.

Approximately four to five thousand hunters come into the district for the season normally, Atkinson said.

Even though the number of casual hunters seemed to decline this season, Atkinson said most of the hunt camps were full.

The hunters appeared to be co-operating with the new program, Atkinson said.

Along with the antlerless deer program, the ministry also carries out deer feeding programs and a preditor control program, Atkinson added.

The deer feeding program comes into effect if the deer population experiences a bad winter and can't get enough food to survive, he said. The ministery will move crews into the deer yards to cut browse for the deer to feed on.

This year, in the Harburn area, the ministry has trucked in approximately 10 tons of corn sileage for the deer to feed on. Atkinson said the feed had to be trucked in because the deer feeding yards are located on private property so the MNR was unable to cut browse for the animals.

Closure by-law may lead to court that curbs, sidewalks and hard top surfaced roads are convenient access but not deemed probable in cottage area.

"Good heavens, if they bought on an island would they expect you to build a bridge?" McMullen asked.

If Dragon and Chicowski had to construct a driveway into the rear of their property it "would force them to improve their property," McMullen said.

If the decision to close the allowance was made it would be prejudicial to Dragon and Chicowski, Victor maintained. He said he did not feel the by-law was in the best interest of the public and should not be passed for the benefit of one person.

"There is no possible way this proposed by-law is in the public interest," Victor said.

Then, Cruikshanks questioned whether Victor thought council should stop passing any by-laws for rezoning of private property since they were obviously in the interest of a private individual. He also asked Victor whether he felt council should not hear any applications for closures of road allowances even though such closures are allowed under the Municipal Act.

Victor, noticeably in an uncomfortable position, countered that he felt by-laws should not be passed if they are not in the public interest, the Municipal Act notwithstanding.

At the end of the presentations and the clarifications of arguments, council went into a committee of the whole to discuss the matter further.

When council resumed in open session, Victor and his clients had left and did not hear the decision that the road closure by-law be passed.

The closure of the allowance for road will not become effective until the Ministry of Housing approves it. In the meantime, Dragon and Chicowski will have the opportunity to appeal council's by-law.

Kinmount residents honour war dead

by S. K. Telford,
Poppy Fund Chairman

Remembrance Day Service for Legion Branch 441, Kinmount, was planned for Sunday, November 8, to be held at the Cenotaph on main street, but because of wet weather, the service was presented in the Legion Hall, led by Comrade Norman Gilmore, the branch president.

Short speeches of appreciation of the contribution of veterans to the country, were made by Carl Brickman, reeve of Galway and Cavendish townships, Maurice Watson, reeve of Township of Somerville and William Scott, M.P.

After a pause for each individual to "Remember", Comrade Norman Silver called "The Roll of the Fallen".

The Last Post was played by Piper Ivan Thompson, followed by the "Silence" and then "Reveille".

Comrade Sam Telford then called up the representatives who would normally have laid wreaths at the monument. There were 29 in all, an extraordinary number for such a small village. The service was brought to a close, and Comrade Gilmore invited everyone to attend church service at the Baptist Church, and return to the Legion Hall afterwards for lunch provided by the Ladies' Auxiliary.

Comrade Alan Brown then led the colour party and other veterans in parade to the church for the service by Rev. Roy Vanderlip. They stopped briefly at the Cenotaph to lay the Province of Ontario wreath.

When wreaths were actually laid on November 11, nine of the local school children assisted the veterans with the job. They were Julie Brown, Christine Brelsford, Teresa Merten, David Anderson, Dan McCluny, Joe Newman, Lynne Swinson, Jull Dettman, and Zoe Rolfe.

Branch 441 is known as the John McGrath Branch. John McGrath was the first member of the armed forces from Kinmount to be killed in the Second World War. His mother, Mrs. Phyllis McGrath was present on November 11 when the wreaths were laid.

Parish must raise one-third of estimated $200,000 cost approximately $200,000 to build the new facility. The committee has raised $25,000 in the last year to put towards the building.

In order to get a "very good loan" from the regional diocese, Morissette said the congregation must raise at least one third of the money required for the project.

But he remains optimistic as the fund-raising events are going well.

"Like all fund-raisings, you have your ups and your downs," Morissette said.

The new church which the congregation is considering would have a hall annexed to it with sliding doors to separate the church and the hall. In the summer these doors could be opened to allow more space for parishioners.

The committee is also looking at the possibility of purchasing a new lot, because the present lot is too small for parking. The result is a parking problem on the street during the summer months.

When the hall was not needed for church services it would be open for church committees to hold their activities, Morissette said.

Morissette said without the help of the other churches and members of the community, the building fund would not be as large as it is at present.

Correction

A story on the front page of the November 5 edition of The Echo concerning a speech therapist for the county may have left the impression that the hiring of an individual to fill the position was assured. In fact, however, The Echo has since been informed, the plan is not finalized, and is dependant on funding arrangements with the Haliburton and District Association for the Mentally Retarded and the Home Care program of the Haliburton, Kawartha Pineridge District Health Unit, which is funded by the Ministry of Health.

Dorothy Kinsman was the trustee whose report was read to the Haliburton County Board of Education.

The Echo regrets the errors.

Guild concert series has entertainment to suit all tastes

by Sue Cooper

Children, as well as adults, in Haliburton County no longer need to feel they are cut off from the rest of the world when it comes to enjoying fine musical entertainment, thanks to the Haliburton Highlands Guild of Fine Arts.

The Guild undertook the task or organizing a musical series for the county during the winter months. The difficulties that must have arisen in trying to provide enjoyable entertainment for all music lovers, whether their tastes run to operatic, classical, folk and popular music, or drama, proved to be worth it last Friday.

Children from across the county had a chance to hear some excellent traditional music performed by three members of Maple Sugar who were slated for a public performance in Haliburton Village on Friday evening.

The three members, James Gordon, Jeff Bird and Randy Sutherland, are only part of the six man group which includes Giles Losier, from Montreal who specializes in Acadian music, Dawson Girdwood, from Perth who excells in traditional Irish and French Canadian fiddle music and Donnie Gilchrist, from Ottawa who is an outstanding step dancer.

Most of the group's performance includes many Canadian songs that were popular before the turn of the century.

The group has been busy touring the country in both directions and is now in the process of planning another cross-country tour.

James Gordon is the only original member of the group which was formed eight years ago.

Other evenings of entertainment slated over the next few months are, the guild choir, Women of Margaret Lawrence and contralto Maureen Forrester.

All of the 700 tickets printed for the four concert series have been sold out.

Paudash club prepares trails

Snowmobilers in the eastern part of the county are getting ready for their winter enjoyment as they start grooming their snowmobile trails.

Members of the Paudash Trail Blazers Snowmobile Club have been making a few new trails and also cleaning up the branches and brush that accumulate during the summer.

Work has been done on three miles of new trail near trhe Diamond Lake area and also three miles of trail in Harcourt Park was upgraded and improved.

In hopes of making the best use of these trails, the snowmobile club has printed a new more detailed trail map that will include mileages from specified points. Also private property signs will be erected along the trails so members are asked to respect them.

Harold Harrison was southbound when his car rolled over in the west ditch and came to rest in the southbound lane.

Damage to the vehicle was estimated at $5000. Harrison suffered a fractured wrist and cuts in the mishap, according to police.

He has been charged with careless driving.

A charge of careless driving was also laid against an 18-year old Brampton man after his car struck a bridge on County Road #1.

Douglas Smith was eastbound at 6 a.m. last Saturday when he lost control and hit the side of the bridge.

Damage to the car he was driving was estimated at $3000.

Top shooters get medals, trophies at Marksmen Club

Many members of the Haliburton County Marksmen Club were honoured with medals and trophies for their shooting abilities at the annual general meeting, last Thursday evening.

As well as the presentations, which were made by local businessmen, the club also held its election of officers for the next year.

The top shooters, as the result of a championship shoot held in September were shot gun: Lyn Forsyth; .22 rifle: Boyd Jarvis; high power rifle: Ulysses Toutant; .22 pistol: Jeff Lodenquai; and centre fire pistol: Jeff Lodenquai.

Receiving Olympic-type medals for their efforts were, in order of finish: trap shoot: Lyn Forsyth, Jack Snell and Brian Anderson; junior trap shoot: Terry Allore, John Coulter; .22 rifle without scope, kneeling: Boyd Jarvis, Jack Snell, Charlie Muli, (Jarvis was also the handicap winner); Junior .22 rifle without scope, kneeling: Chris Lodenquai, (also handicap winner), Terry Allore; .22 rifle without scope, standing: Boyd Jarvis, Charlie Muli (also handicap winner) Jack Snell; junior rifle without scope, standing: Chris Lodenquai, Terry Allore (also handicap winner); high power rifle: Ulysses Toutant (also handicap winner), Charlie Muli; junior high power rifle: John Coulter, (also handicap winner); .22 pistol at 25 metres: Jeff Lodenquai (also handicap winner), Don Patry, Ron Mackenzie; .22 pistol at 20 yards: Jeff Lodenquai (also handicap winner), Gerry Cox, Boyd Jarvis; centre fire pistol: Jeff Lodenquai (also handicap winner), Boyd Jarvis and Don Patry.

Following the presentations, members held the general election. This new executive consists of president, Doug Tedford; vice-president, Glynne Lewis; secretary, Sidney Gregory; treasurer, Sue Cooper; club captain, Ron MacKenzie, rifle captain, Brian Anderson; handgun captain, Gerald Cox; shotgun captain, Lyn Forsyth; rifle assistant, Peter Anderson; handgun assistant, Steve Bodmore; and shotgun assistant, Charlie Muli.

In his report, out-going president Jeff Lodenquai outlined the progress the club had made over the past year. He noted the range had been landscaped and target holders and shooting benches had also been installed. A new club house, which was donated along with the moving charges is now located at the range although some work is still necessary.

Some of the problems which the club experienced in the past year were mainly based on communication, Loenquai said, adding that any suggestion on improving communication among members would be appreciated.

Another problem which seems to be faced by most volunteer clubs, was the lack of participation in the organized work parties to fence in the range and other tasks tha would improve the area, the outgoing president said.

Lodenquai thanked the executive that had served with him for the past two years and noted that he would be unable to run again for office since the constitution stated a president could only serve for two consecutive terms. Lodenquai will still sit on the executive as past president.

Fire Marshal's office makes suggestions for continued improvement

Stanhope firemen get pat on back

The Stanhope fire department got a pat on the back last week when the Fire Marshal's office congratulated the men on the progress they had made in the last year.

At the regular meeting of Stanhope council last Wednesday, clerk Gerald Bain read the commending letter from Norman Vine, assistant chief of the Fire Advisory services.

"I was greatly pleased to find the fire fighters working well together and providing a good level of fire suppression protection to the township," Vine wrote.

The Fire Marshal's office became involved with the Stanhope department when serious difficulties arose last year which split the department in two factions. After several resignations, the fire marshall's office was called in to set up a new department strategy.

Then a new chief, George Wilson was hired to lead the volunteers.

Although Vine said he was very satisfied with the progress of the department, he suggested two ideas that might be worth pursuing, to keep the department growing.

The first suggestion was that a fire prevention officer might be appointed to help keep the fires in the township to a minimum.

"As fire prevention is the primary function of a fire department, a fire prevention officer should be appointed to conduct and coordinate fire prevention inspection," Vine stated.

A small scale program is already underway by the fire chief who is hoping to expand it to include commercial and household inspections in hope of identifying areas of fire hazards.

Council discussed the fire prevention program with Wilson but put off making a final decision on appointing an officer until the new council began its term.

Vine also suggested the fire department undertake a formal training program to keep the men abreast of new techniques in first aid and fire fighting.

Wilson said he has been busy over the past year with training all the men, many of whom are new, to use all the vehicles and equipment. But he is now planning to move into a full training program within the next few weeks.

However, with only the two suggestions on the operation of the fire department, council was very pleased with the volunteers' and Wilson's work at overcoming the turbulent time they had experienced last year.

Council, as well as Vine, commended Wilson.

"In closing, I would like to commend Fire Chief George Wilson on the job he has done during the past year. He stepped into a difficult job and has carried out the task very efficiently," Vine wrote.

a reason in hopes of having the fine for the infraction reduced or be given more time to pay; may plead not guilty in a court of law and follow the normal proceedings, or he may submit to the pre-set fine for the infraction.

Since these matters may now be decided on an informal basis with a Justice of the Peace, the by-law enforcement officer will not be required to sit through as many court proceedings.

Once the public is aware of the new system, English said it will be simpler and more convenient for everyone.

The only time a defendant must appear in court is if he is charged with an infraction which carries more than a $300 fine on conviction, English said.

The safest way

Next Tuesday, the Haliburton County Board of Education is expected to consider a suggestion from the Minden OPP that safety patrols be introduced on school buses. The suggestion comes in the wake of concern over the actions of some students on buses and a recent incident in the Highland Grove area in which a dump truck passed a stopped bus while a student was about to cross the road. The OPP believe the patrols could save lives, and have evidence that they have worked well for other boards. For its part, the board will have to decide whether or not the patrols are feasible in this area.

The decision will be a complicated one. Obviously, the board has a responsibility to protect its students. That means it must hire reliable companies and individuals to operate buses. It must plan the routes they take with care. And it must pay bus companies enough to maintain their vehicles in top condition. These are responsibilities which the board has accepted and carried out. Bus operators recently won a two-year contract that should enable them to keep their vehicles in excellent repair. Lists of acceptable drivers have been compiled to ensure that buses taking students on field trips have the most competent people at the wheel. And last year, the board authorized the purchase of stop signs that swing out to warn oncoming traffic when a bus has stopped to load or unload.

Should the board now go a step further and impliment the patrols advocated by the OPP? The answer will depend on a full airing of the costs and the dangers involved.

There is no doubt that students are exposed to risk every time they get on or off a bus, particularly on a heavily travelled highway. Traffic laws have tried to minimize that danger by imposing heavy fines on people who ignore buses' flashing lights and pass them while they are stopped. Nevertheless stopped buses will be passed, whether through blatant irresponsibility or simple inattention on the part of drivers. The question is whether a safety patrol would be an effective mans of reducing the hazard in such a situation. It is possible that a patrol, made up of one or two senior students on every bus route, would be a help in getting younger students across busy highways. But it is equally possible that the patrol would expose youngsters to additional danger, especially if a patroller were to use bad judgement and order students to cross when conditions were not, in fact, safe. Can a youngster who does not drive be expected to assess the actions of an oncoming driver? What legal complications would the board face if a student were killed crossing the road on the advice of a patroller? Will the inherant dangers make insurance costs prohibitive?

If, as the OPP maintain, the costs are not too high, the legal complications not unmanageable and the benefits tangible, then the board should consider implimenting the patrols. But it might also consider alternatives. Instead of giving the responsibility to students, could drivers not step outside to tell students when to cross in a few designated danger areas? Even without leaving his or her seat, a driver might be able, in many cases, to gauge the actions of oncoming traffic and signal students about crossing.

The matter of safety is a pressing concern for the board and for local police. Working together, the two groups can come up with the best possible plan to ensure students' well being. In bringing their concerns to the attention of the board's transportation committee, the OPP have fulfilled a responsibility to the public. Whether or not the board decides to impliment school bus patrols, or some other means of protecting students who must cross busy highways, the matter has now been brought to the attention of trustees and parents.

Anyone who has ideas on the OPP proposal should communicate them to trustees or, better yet, attend next Tuesday's meeting.

It's a matter that should be vitally important to every parent whose youngsters ride buses to school.

Memories

Few things have touched the heart of the community as much as the accident Friday which claimed the lives of four area teenagers. Saturday, as the news spread throughout the county, a palpable gloom descended. Their youth, their vitality, the nature of their deaths, and the cold reality of how tenous life itself is brought despair to the consciousness of people who may not have known them personally. Such a waste of potential is tragic in a way that the death of older people can never be.

In time, the shock will fade. But the memory of those young people will live on in the minds of their families and friends. Not their deaths but the fact that they once lived is what will remain for those who knew them.

It is the only consolation there can ever be.

LETTERS to the EDITOR

To the Editor:

Re: Jaws of Life Fund. Our local ambulance Resuce Vehicle is in urgent need of the apparatus called "Jaws of Life" to rescue injured people who our trapped in a motor vehicle after an accident or collision. This equipment costs between $8,500 and $10,000, according to the accessories required.

If anyone is trapped in a vehicle and such equipment is needed to save his or her life, the nearest available equipment is at Barrie or Uxbridge.

The Kennisis Lake Cottagers Association is deeply concerned about this need and have recently made a donation of $150 to this fund. I sincerely hope that all cottage owners' associations in Haliburton and the general public will contribute generously to this fund.

Cheques should be made out to the Municipality of Dysart et al and sent to Mr. Wayne Wood at the Municipal Building.

Yours sincerely,
James R. Wilkinson,
Pres. K.L.C.O.A.

As others see it

Newspaper editors and preachers have a lot in common.

No, we do not mean that they are liable to end up in the same subdivision of hereafter when their work is done, but rather that their jobs are somewhat similar.

Preachers and newspaper editors -- good ones, that is -- are evangelists.

They both try, by example, suggestion and criticism, to put across ideas. And they often practice their preaching with annoying consistency.

Of course there are some preachers who condemn sin in general without making the application close enough to irritate their congregations.

And there are plenty of editors who can write vividly of events and issues which happen a hundred or a thousand miles away but who seldom, if ever, take a stand on a local question.

As a matter of fact there has been a tendency in recent years in the English-speaking world toward the growth of chain newspapers. Publishing has become such a costly business that the small operator has little chance of top-heavy profit; more often than not he is lucky to hold a break-even pace with a community-oriented publication. On the other hand, the big publisher with a chain of daily or weekly journals has an opportunity to moderate large dividends multiplied, or course, by the number of acquisitions. Conversely, too, we have only recently seen where the really big operators can pull the rug from under a border-line publication and kill for purely economical advantages.

In many chain-operated journals, however, the editorial pages have taken second place to the advertising columns. The crusading editor, the local evangelist and leader, has largely disappeared.

Under centralized ownership and management the personalized editorial page with its highly local flavour has too often been replaced by commonly expressed platitudes which will offend no one and guide no one.

It is important that Canadians take note of this trend. The freedom of enterprise and individual initiative of which we speak and write so freely depends for its spark in no small measure on crusading personalities within our own towns and villages. These men - be they preachers or editors - owe their first allegiance to truth and to the welfare of their neighbour citizens.

INCREASING OIL PRICES

Those who advocate raising gasoline and oil prices to ensure more conservation is practiced would be well advised to study Shell Canada's briefing paper called World Oil and Gas in 1979.

The only country with reduced demand for oil products in 1979 was the United States where allocation of motor gasoline supplies by oil companies notably restrained mid-year demand. By year-end, the paper says, price has taken over as the main depressant on demand.

However, those countries with gasoline prices well over $2 and $3 a gallon such as France, Italy, West Germany and the United Kingdom increased demand by plus 1, plus 3, plus 3 and plus 1 percent respectively. Canada's demand increased by 4 percent.

Canada is a large and cold country with huge areas in frost six months of the year but it is noteworthy our demand is less than the United Kingdom's which has a milder climate and much less distance between major cities. The United Kingdom is listed as using 294.1 thousand cubic metres daily while Canada's demand is 281 thousand cubic metres.

This country is seventh in overall use behind the United States, Japan, West Germany, France, Italy and the United Kingdom in that order.

Although probably everyone realizes oil is not a renewable resource, the argument that increasing oil prices will reduce consumption is surely false. If price encouraged conservation then surely the United Kingdom, West Germany, France and Italy with their high prices would be reducing demand rather than increasing it.

Feir Play

The municipal elections throughout Haliburton County are over for another two years. The winners and those who were acclaimed will be getting ready to take office in the very near future while the losers will either leave municipal politics for good or wait for another try in 1982. Now that it's all over I would like to mention what seems to me to be one of the most discouraging aspects of the election. This is what appears to be a very low turnout at the polls in practically every section of Haliburton County. When you see figures that show only 12 and 16 percent of the voters in some of the municipalities bothered to vote, one has to wonder if it is all worthwhile. Granted these percentages are worked out from the total number of voters on the list which includes many summer residents who were not here to vote but on the other hand the permanent resident vote was definitely down from the election in 1978. One would have to wonder why people are staying at home. Is it public apathy or that too many acclamations in most municipalities took some of the excitement out of the election? Whatever the case may be it all adds to a serious situation. On November 11th just past, as I attended the Remembrance Day Service at the Cenotaphy in Haliburton I couldn't help but think of all those from our area who laid down their lives in two great wars so that we could live in peace in a land of opportunity and in a democracy which gives us the right to choose. In many countries today the people live under communist rule where there is only one name on the ballot. What these people wouldn't give to have the great opportunity that we have to vote in elections for the candidates of our choice. It's beyond me how some people can sit at home at election time with their feet up on the stove telling their neighbour that they aren't going to bother to go out and vote because it's no use as the powers that be will run things to suit themselves anyway. How in the world can we have any change in our affairs if everyone has this attitude. In my estimation only those who don't bother to vote ever really lose their vote. This is a democracy and it doesn't matter how you vote as long as you vote. How can we get a true picture of the voters' wishes if over 50 percent of the voters stay at home.

Every year around this time in advertisements and window displays we see the word Christmas taken down to the short form of Xmas. This is something that is wrong and when we take Christ out of Christmas what have we got left? We are getting away from the real meaning of Christmas and as we all know it is becoming too commercialized.

Keep this datge in mind. It's February 7, 1981 for Snowarama. Please note that it will be on a Saturday not the usual Sunday as in the past.

The local merchants in Haliburton County now have their stores decorated for the holiday season and some of the window displays look just beautiful. This all means that Christmas is not far off. Inside the stores decorations also abound.

It's Christmas Open House time again at Campbell's Garden Centre and Flower Shop in Minden. It will run four days starting today, Wednesdy, November 19 and will run through until this Saturday, November 22.

Speaking on the subject of entertainment, you won't want to miss the Highlands Little Theatre's presentation of Agatha Christie's "A Murder is Announced". This outstanding play will be presented at the Haliburton high school auditorium this Friday and Saturday, November 21 and 22 at 8:00 p.m. Tickets may be obtained from any theatre member or at Paulette's, Haliburton and Toronto Dominion Bank in Minden. Tickets are going fast so we urge you to purchase yours as soon as possible.

Bernie Nicholls of West Guilford is going great guns for the Kingston Canadians. In a recent game in Peterborough he scored two goals and had one assist.

You can take it with you and it's a good idea. What? A supply of minor bits and pieces that frequently break and stop you on the road. If you've got a fan belt; radiator hoses, points, plugs and fuses with you, any service station can install them and get you going. The Ontario Safety League reminds you that you won't always be able to get a special hose or belt readily on a weekend.

Pic of the Past

Our thanks go out this week to Mr. Jim Orr, present owner of Sir Sam's Inn at Eagle Lake for submitting this most interesting photo of the property which was then known as Glen Eagle. The picture, taken in the year 1919, shows a great view of the property with the house and main lodge at the left. Sir Sam Hughes, who purchased the property and put the buildings on it, would live here with his family during the summer months and they would move back to their home in Lindsay for the winter. They did this right up until the time of Sir Sam's death around 1923. Nila Reynolds, in her book, In Quest of Yesterday, states that the main building was modelled upon a hunting lodge at which Hughes had been a guest during his European travels. Sir Sam's summer home of masonry was erected in 1917 on a site overlooking Eagle Lake originally owned by the Dutton family. First of the local people to be connected with the estate was Curly Bill Roberts whose skill as a guide made him a favourite of the owner. Succeeding caretakers were Sam Watt, Lee Clarke and Walter Hobden who was in charge in 1942 when L.A. Pritchard, Lewis Pritchard and J.L. Dawson of Minden purchased the holding from the Hughes estate. They donated three acres (later sold to Sam Graham) to the Minden and Haliburton Rotary Club before disposing of the bulk of 1,600 acres to messrs. Proctor and Priddle in 1944. They established Glen Eagle tourist resort. In 1965 this property was purchased by Haliburton Highlands Properties Limited who renovated the main lodge and opened Sir Sam's Inn. Just recently they sold it to its present owner, Jim Orr.

From the Chamber

by Bob Stinson

Haliburton Highlands
the heart of getaway country

John Hogg Ontario Chamber Director

John Hogg, past president of our Haliburton Highlands Chamber has been elected to a second term on the Board of Directors of the Ontario Chamber of Commerce. In this capacity John represents district 21 which encompasses an area reaching down to and including Peterborough and is responsible for carrying their wishes and concerns to the board.

The Ontario Chamber of Commerce has gained a great deal of respect and credibility in its dealings with the provincial government over the last few years and we are proud and fortunate to have one of our members involved in their organization at the decision making level. We have, in the past, been concerned at times that not enough emphasis was placed on tourism by that body, but John will be doing his part towards changing all that.

Speaking of Tourism

We heard recently of one tourist operator who stamps all her cheques with a big red stamp reading "This account is being paid with Tourist Dollars". So often had she heard members in the business community saying that they were not in the tourist business that she felt it was time they were reminded of just where some of their income really does come from. If each dollar in our community could be identified in such a way we suspect a lot of people in this county would be very surprised with just how involved in the tourist industry they are.

The Ministry of Industry and Tourism has just released a list of their winter promotion advertising dates to us and there will be a substantial campaign to encourage winter participation in the resort areas. Anyone wishing to key their own advertising to the ministry's ads is encouraged to contact the Chamber for details of the schedule.

Election Post Mortems

As the dust settles over the municipal election scene many applicants are trying to figure out what is wrong. On the surface there appears to be a tremendous amount of apathy with possibly a record number of acclamations and a very low percentage of voters showing up at the polls and at the candidate meetings. Where there were elections there was few changes unless there was a major issue at stake.

One observation in our area is that the radio and television media have shown more interest in the U.S. election than in the local scene and hence may be to some extent responsible. While the Carter vs. Reagan issue was being resolved regular programs were being pre-empted to an alarming rate on Canadian T.V., but when our own municipal elections were held some people were unaware of all the results until the local papers were circulated two days later. Two years ago C.K.C.O. carried the results of the reeve and deputy reeve contests in our region and this time decided to not even bother with that. The media is obviously convinced that we don't care and feel we would rather watch the "Incredible Hulk" than know who is going to be running our municipality or school board for the next term.

The other observation is that many individuals who would be excellent candidates are far too often discouraged from participating, because they note that those who do, receive so much criticism and so little praise or appreciation that they decide they don't really need the aggravation. That's our fault -- Yours and Ours!

What's New

Park Cottages & Trailer Park at Wilberforce is getting a new lease on life. Percy and Acy Allin have purchased the property and are working hard towards restoring the facilities to their former quality and friendly atmosphere. They are former residents of the Peterborough area and are optimistic about the future of their refurbished facilities. Please welcome them.

Hollow Valley Lodge at Dorset held their grand opening last week and served over 70 dinners on the three successive nights involved. With this kind of encouragement they look very much forward to their "Special" nights planned throughout the winter season. Tuesday night is Spaghetti Night (only 99 cents), Wednesday night is euchre and cribbage night, and Thursday is amateur night. Friday and Saturday are sing-along evenings. Meanwhile the old log cabins are being moved onto new foundations and a central heated washroom with showers is nearing completion. They will be ready for business this winter with the cabins and winter campsites.

Camp Allsaw on Soyer's Lake recently was the subject of a feature article in the Christian Science Monitor which discussed the excellent programs that owner Sam Hambly operates there which teaches the ways and means of preservin our natural resources. Congratulations Sam!

Tragedy Strikes Twice

With first, an accident on Huntsville's main street, and then the tragic crash on Highway 35 our community has suddenly been struck with an incredible sadness over the loss it has just experienced. Jack Johnson was employed at the Beaconbrook Motel and well-known to many who stayed there. The young people were the children of several of our members, and they had not yet had the chance to take their own place in our business community. Our very sincere sympathy goes out to all the remaining members of the families.

Bill Smiley

I sometimes wonder if my college contemporaries are as happy as I, or happier, or less happy and just walking the old treadmill until they reach the end of the road and the dust to dust business.

My wonder was triggered by a recent letter from no less a body than Sandy Cameron, the Ambassador to Poland. He seems happy, but that's only on paper. We used to kick a football around when we were ten or twelve until we were summoned home in the gathering dusk.

He's since returned to Ottawa, after three years in Yugo-Slavia and two in Warsaw, and has invited us to drop around. I shudder at the cost of that, if my old lady thought she was going into ambassadorial regions. Can you rent a mink coat for an evening?

Another guy I knew at college has emerged into a fairly huge job, much in the public eye. He is Jan (now John) Meisel, a former Queen's professor who has been appointed head of the CRTC and is determined to move that moribund body. Jan is, as I recall, a Czech, gentle, brilliant, fairly frail but strong in spirit.

Let's namedrop some more. Jamie Reaney is a playwright, poet, novelist and professor of English at Western. Two Governor-General's Awards for literature, but he's just the same sweet, kooky guy he was at nineteen, a real scholar, absorbed in children's games, yet a first-rate teacher and writer.

Alan Brown has been a dilettante with the CBC, producing unusual radio programs from faraway places, and lately emerging as a translator of French novels. He came from Millbrook, a hamlet near Peterborough. How we small-town boys made the city slickers look sick, when it came to intellect.

George McCowan was a brilliant English and philosophy student who was kicked out of school for writing an exam for a dummy who happened to live around the corner from me when I was a kid.

He went off to Stratford as an actor and director, and suddenly disappeared to Hollywood, after marrying and being divorced from Frances Hyland. He is now on his third or fourth wife, has an ulcer, and directs Grade B movies.

I knew Don Harron casually. His first wife was a classmate of mine, who later married that Hungarian guy who wrote In Praise of Older Women, made into a movie. Harron, with lots of talent, energy and ambition, has parlayed his Charley Farquarson into a mint, and is still producing a lot of creative stuff.

Another of the drifting mob was Ralph Hicklin, a dwarfish kid with rotten teeth, and a wit with the bite of an asp. He still owes me $65., because he had no scruples about borrowing money. He became a movie and ballet critic, and a good one, but died in his late forties.

There were other drifters in and out of the gang, including my kid brother, who was mainly there for the girls. And boy, I'd better not start on the girls, or I'm in trouble.

I was the only one who was about half jock, that sweaty and anomalous name that is pinned on Phys. Ed. teachers today. I played football, and my intellectual friends had nothing but scorn for this. I loved it.

And I made some friends among the jocks, or the hangers-on, the sportswriters. Notable among them was Dave McIntosh, who still writes a mean letter to the editor from Ottawa, and spent most of his adult life working for The Canadian Press and newspapers.

I also had other friends in the college newspaper. I was a couple of years behind the bumptious Wayne and Shuster, but knew Neil Simon and others whose names appeared as bylines from all over the world.

What I wonder is whether I would trade places with these bright guys I used to hang around with. I think not.

I doubt if three of us are still married to the same woman, not that that is any big deal.

I don't have the ego to hustle myself as some of them have done, nor the brilliance that many of them had.

When I go up and shout at my noisy Grade 10's, or try to coax my four-year elevens into some sort of intellectual movement, I simply haven't time to wish I was the Ambassador to Poland, a director of B's in Hollywood, a translater of rather obscure French novels, or the head of the CRTC.

I haven't time. Tomorrow night I have to drive 140 miles and give a speech about "honor" to the Honor students of another school. Tomorrow I have to go to a department heads' meeting where we will, for the fourth time this year, discuss "smoking" in the school. Tonight, I have to call my old lady in Moosonee, tell her I've been a model bachelor and have only burned six holes in the rug. Thursday night, I have a Parents' Night, at which the parents of bright kids will come to have me praise them and the other parents will stay away.

I bought the paint for the back stoop, but it's been too wet to paint. Yesterday, I had two young lady visitors, who caught me in my pyjamas, bare feet, and dirty dishes all over the kitchen.

No. There's no way. I just haven't time to be an intel-

LKTA hosts tourney at HHSES

The Haliburton Tigers took the girl's consolation trophy while both boys teams made it to the consolation and championship finals in the third annual Lake Kashagawigamogt Tourist Association floor hockey tournament held at the senior elementary school last weekend.

Teams from Peterborough, Lakefield, Oshawa, Agincourt, Scarborough, Windsor and Battle Creek, Michigan plus four Haliburton teams competed in the weekend competition.

Play began on Friday evening and lasted throughout the weekend with the final games getting underway Sunday morning.

The winner of the girls championship match was Agincourt with Windsor running a close second. The Haliburton Tigers took the consolation title away from Lakefield in the final game of the match.

Lakefield was the winner in the boys championship match with Haliburton #1 finishing second. Agincourt took the title in the boys consolation division while Haliburton #2 placed second.

The organizers of the competition were given a lot of help in almost every aspect of the tournament as Roy Hoare acted as Referee-in-Chief, with a host of helpers running time clocks and keeping score.

Also special help to keep the tournament running smoothly was offered by Ed

Huskies draft midgets in order to ice a team

It was a costly weekend for the Haliburton Huskies.

Friday, they travelled to Penetang and lost by seven goals. But they also lost Shaun Chapman, Roger Hicks and Brian Lloyd for two games when double fighting majors led to automatic suspensions. Sunday, at home against Oro, the second worst team in the league, the Huskies won an easy victory but lost Don Manary, Mike Scheffee and Ed Roberts to two game suspensions.

And to add to the team's problems, Kevin O'Hara who is attending university, will not be on hand for next weekend's games, Ron Yake is a doubtful starter because of an injured knee, and Mark Bowman, who played well in the early part of the season, has apparently dropped off the team.

If the Huskies are to ice a squad for next Friday's match in Midland, they will have to rely heavily on midget players, a situation which may pay off for future Huskies teams but which will certainly hamper the scoring punch of the present one.

Last Friday's match against Penetang was a frustrating one for the Huskies, particularly in the third period, when Lloyd, Hicks and Chapman were literally jumped by Penetang players, resulting in the suspensions.

In the opening period the Huskies were stymied while Penetang racked up six goals, at 3:29, at 5:05 on a power play, at 12:31, 13:14, 15:38 while shorthanded, and at 18:12.

In the second period, Darrin MacInnis got the team on the board at 7:29, with an assist from Gary Harrison and Kevin O'Hara. At 11:07, Penetang got another and at 14:34, MacInnis connected for his second on a power play, assisted by Kevin O'Hara and Chris Hodgson.

The third period was a penalty filled affair in which Penetang managed to score three more, while the Huskies could come up with only one, at 10:24 when MacInnis completed the hat trick in a shorthanded situation with an assist from Hodgson.

Final score was Penetang 10, Huskies 3.

Sunday the team was back home against Oro and, playing in front of a small crowd, they came up with 11 goals, six of them in the third period to walk away with an easy victory.

At 12:10 into the period, the Huskies got their first when Mike Rae connected from Dave Nicholls and Rob Abbs.

Oro managed to tie the score at the 18:05 mark but the Huskies got one more before the period ended when Dean Potter tallied with an assist from Rae at 18:49.

The second period belonged to the Huskies as they scored three more, Gary Harrison found the mark at 16:27, assisted by Rae and Mike Scheffee, Don Manary tallied at 17:48 on a shorthanded goal, assisted by Dave Nichols and Chris Hodgson, and Hodgson scored, assisted by Don Manary and Nichols, at the 18 minute mark.

The third period was nothing less than a rout. Kevin O'Hara got one at 6:45, assisted by Scott Rae and Mike Rae; Scott Rae scored at 7:23, with help from Manary and Mike Rae; Hodgson made it 8 - 1 at 9:39 off the stick of Nichols; Gary Harrison scored from Scott Rae and Darin MacInnis at 11:05, Nichols tallied from Hodgson at 16:43; and Hodgson got one from Nichols at 19:17.

Oro's only goal in the period came at 18:02.

Final score was Haliburton 11, Oro 2.

Fourteen games into the schedule, the Huskies have won five, lost eight and tied one, and are sitting in fifth place, ahead of Bracebridge, Oro and Huntsville, but behind league leading (and undefeated) Gravenhurst, Parry Sound, Midland Penetang.

Friday, the Huskies will travel to Midland. Saturday, they'll be at home against Gravenhurst. Game time is 8:30 p.m. Sunday, they'll travel to Parry Sound.

COUNTY ECHO FAMILY

Extendicare News

by Dr. W. O. Anderson

Last June a company of ladies of Extendicare journeyed to a strawberry patch on Buckslide Road, Township of Stanhope, and picked nearly a ton of the delicious fruit. A strawberry festival that was held here soon after exhausted nearly half and the left-over was mashed and put in deep freeze until Monday, when another group of ladies - Vera Griffin, Flossie Burk, Ethel Fader, Elsie Porter, Flora Walling, Hazel Parish, Lila Simmons and Maude Wester, converted this salvage of strawberries to little jars of strawberry jam. These were put on sale before they were cool and were sold out in a few hours, so you see that we residents do not let the strawberries grow underfoot and do nothing about it. Pat Burk, our activity director, was the production manager for this extravaganza.

It was great fun voting Monday and anyone who did not, missed much. Naturally we all voted for our favourites. Think what Haliburton is to be like next year when the newly elected council, not to be outdone, gives us a repeat.

We are indebted to the Lochlin United Church Women for a nice donation to the Happy Gang. Gestures like that make us happier. Thanks ladies.

Tuesday afternoon we had a game of bingo with no volunteer helpers. No doubt the activities of Remembrance Day kept people busy on their own. Allen Macklin called throughout, quite a hefty chore. Pat Burk was on the job helping any who needed it.

In the evening we attended the annual Remembrance Day dinner at Branch 129 Royal Canadian Legion of Haliburton, Wes Baker and Charlie Rumbelow as long-standing comrades and the writer as a guest. Set tables nearly filled the great hall accommodating a goodly number and the proceedings were ushered in by the Pipe band in Highland Scottish regalia, many of whom were ladies. A superb repast over, it was nice to see an impressive number of notable comrades at the head table among whom especially were newly-elected president comrade Sylvia Sisson, who chaired the meeting, guest speaker comrade Una Golding and last being noted was acclaimed reeve, honorary comrade Murray Fearrey of Dysart et al. The address by the guest speaker was impressive and worthy of note. She described the life in the armed forces of much variation, often moving, but in the main otherwise that of an average Canadian family comprising husband, wife, children, mother and father, unbeatable and beautiful the preservation of which was worth fighting and dying for. Maybe we have strayed in our interpretation but to us the message was there and mixed in with the marvelous comradeship and fun that is the Royal Canadian Legion.

Wednesday morning volunteer drivers conveyed us to Locarno Lodge on Kashagawigamog Lake for another sumptuous dinner, the main feature of which was breaded veal cutlets served buffet style and that superb beverage, delicious coffee. These meals out are nice occasions for us. Our splendid driver was Gladys Reid of Lochlin, and thanks to all the drivers.

Soon after we arrived back at Extendicare, a great treat was in store for us. A mixed choir of (if counted right) 26 voices and the pianist Carol Switzer, all of Coboconk and add the conductor, Dr. Doug Merritt. This began seven years ago calling themselves the Happy Wanderers who soon came under the sponsorship of The New Horizons program of the federal government to whom we also are indebted by way of a grant that now seems years away. They gave us at least 25 melodies, maybe more, among which was a favourite of ours, 'Morning has broken' rendered in the greatest of style. They bided awhile before leaving to have some light refreshments and a cup of tea. We reminded them that we are the Happy Gang and when they return we will try to give them 'Thanks for the Music' in our best part singing, before they leave. We feel very lucky to have had them.

The next morning Thursday we had another treat, we were taken to the Haliburton Highlands Secondary school to join a class of teen-aged ladies. Eventually they want us to tell them what it is like to be elderly. We must not forget to tell that when a man or woman is over 80 they can do no wrong. Saintly? eh! It is hoped that when this project is complete more people will be induced to volunteer their services to the elderly.

In the evening the young reliables, Nancy Picard and Peggy Neville, came to provide us with another delightful evening of singing of songs both in and out of our song book. When one gives it a thought it really is amazing the number of quite popular songs available that can take up evening after evening without a repeat. Nancy added another touch in which her mother, Kay Bain of North Bay, after reading about the problem of the supply of pepper mill shakers, sent one to us, a very kind gesture. Thanks for everything.

In some way the Wednesday morning Bible study mention got shifted out of its regular place but centred on those familiar words of Christ exhorting us to 'love our neighbour'. This time June Devolin brought Pat Fearrey along as a lieutenant. The theme of this study is that we must have due regard for the needs of all those about us.

Friday morning Rev. Rick Brewster of the Allsaw Pentecostal Church, his wife Debbie, a friend Melissa Emerson, and pianist, Marjorie Rennick, provided us with the devotional session Friday morning taken from 1st Thessalonians ch. 5, v. 1 - 8, wherein Paul is telling them of the second coming and to stay sober lest they be caught unawares. It is much a matter of keeping the faith.

Three films were shown in the afternoon, - 1. The desert is dying. The only rescue we can see for the desert are a few cubic miles of water distributed by miles and miles of irrigation pipeline from offshore tankers that have taken the water on at Labrador, Newfoundland's Canada, one of the finest pieces of real estate in Canada. A foot mile will give 12 inches of water over 640 acres or 1 square mile. A cubic mile is 5,280 times that. You can see how much water the huge Sahara would need. At present it is necessary to drill a mile or more wells of enormous diameter. With full global cooperation is it possible given our present technology to turn the Sahara green, ever? 2. My village in Switzerland, a tourism film of Switzerland. 3. Cornhusk dolls. We were pleased that Mary Packard from the Haliburton library was the projectionist for these films.

Our sympathy goes to Joan Hutchings in the loss of a son in a tragic highway collision. Words seem futile to say more.

Alice Hartle and the writer were privileged to be guests at the Friday night dinner at the Legion Hall at which Extendicare hosted the many volunteer helpers. It was a gala event chaired by our administrator Sheila Elston and guest speaker Bill Barlow, an illustrious volunteer helper for Extendicare/Peterborough, who outlined the satisfaction he and his son get from helping the handicapped of those shelters for the maimed and elderly. It was a sumptuous buffet style repast with lots of fun and relaxation.

Guild News

by Carole McLean

As always after volunteering to help set up a show for the Guild of Fine Arts, I gain new respect for those hard-working ladies, who undertake the responsibility of putting together the countless displays and shows the Guild holds throughout the year.

It is an undertaking that required the volunteers to contribute countless hours, along with an eye for design, colour, organization, patience and stamina to put together a show for us to enjoy.

Our curren show "Members Best" is now in progress. I have been informed that this show is to be an annual occurrence. Perhaps our craft people should begin now as we do for our other shows and exhibitions and as a new and different piece of work is created, put it aside, in essence reserving it for future shows such as this. This practice, if followed, should ensure that each and every show will contain new and interesting pieces, thus enabling the public to obtain a broader and varied view of our work.

Concert Series

"Maple Sugar" was a success. This fine group of entertainers not only captivated the audience that attended the Friday performance at the high school but the public school students as well.

My own children were among the many who attended the performance put on by "Maple Sugar" for the students of Haliburton County. "Maple Sugar" was such a success (no easy feat with young people) that the youngsters were talking about it the next day. They particularly enjoyed the audience participation.

It was definitely a show that held appeal for all ages and I'm sure that this being the preview concert of the series, all those who hold tickets on the series are in for a real treat.

As the Christmas season draws near, it is a busy time at Hyland Crest. There are several activities being planned involving the residents and staff.

Monday was election day, and the polling station was in our auditorium. As a result there were many visitors to our home. We held our fun and fitness program in the main lounge on Monday morning, and in the afternoon the ladies continued to work on their projects in the craftroom.

Tuesday morning, Rev. Murv Kurtz of Haliburton Pentecostal Church held service in the chapel. We were accompanied by Agnes Taylor on the organ while we sang some inspiring gospel hymns. At 11 a.m. several people gathered in the lounge to watch the Remembrance Day service from Ottawa.

Later in the afternoon, it was movie time in the auditorium. We saw three very interesting films. Errigal was filmed in Ireland and in the North Atlantic. We saw some beautiful scenery and wildlife. "Mural" told us the story of how murals are designed and printed. We saw how unusual ideas are

Harcourt Chapel

An age old saying that "time and tide waits on no man" is very applicable in today's world where so much is happening in such short periods of time. For the city person to miss a street car or bus is merely a matter of waiting for the next one. For those of us who try to keep our readers informed, it is sometimes a matter of catching next week's issue if time cuts us short. We are grateful to the publishers of the local newspapers for the coverage and voice that is available to all.

With the municipal elections now complete it is disturbing to note the number of eligible voters who did not take advantage of exercising a privilege and freedom that democracy has given us and stands for. It is only our democratic system that protects our freedom of speech and right to worship as we wish.

Services at Harcourt Chapel on Sunday, November 9 commenced with Sunday School at 2:30 and was well attended. At the 7:30 evening service the Petit family from Bancroft brought a ministry in song and message. Mrs. Petit accompanied on the piano as daughter Ruth and sons Allan, Keith and Gordie played violins and the cello, bringing warmth to the beautiful words of Count Your Blessings; Under His Wings; Crown Him; I Believe in Miracles and concluded with a two-part as Ruth sang, It Took a Miracle. The message was brought by Brother John Petit and was taken from Ephesians, Chapter two.

It was a busy week with the Boys Busy Beaver Club meeting at the Chapel Tuesday evening from 6 to 8 p.m.

The Wednesday evening Prayer and Bible Study continues in homes both east and west of the Chapel.

The Young People's group meets Friday evening at the Chapel unless otherwise announced. It is encouraging to know that many young people from the surrounding area become a part of this activity.

The Sunday evening service was enjoyed by many including a number of visitors as a group from Bancroft Bible Chapel attended and

by Irene Moore

I have tossed aside 4 or 5 sheets of paper trying to start my column. It seems a terrible thing that it takes a tragedy to draw the whole county together and words by me cannot express what I want to say, so I hope the parents will understand Edgar Guest's words for they say what I cannot.

There is no time that we could set,
For parting. We who must remain.
Are never ready for such pain.
Ever our prayer would be:
"Not yet!
Not yet, dear God, another day,
With us let our beloved stay."
We must believe when falls the blow
That wisely God has willed it so.

There are a number of events coming up that everyone hopes people will attend. On Friday, November 21, Minden U.C.W. will be holding their 10th anniversary luncheon, bake sale and bazaar at the United Church Hall from 11:30 p.m. until 2:30 p.m. On Monday, November 24, the Library Culture Centre Committee will meet at the Minden library at 8 p.m. It is hoped that all who are interested in one way or another will attend. On Friday, November 28 the St. Paul's A.C.W. will be holding their chili luncheon, bazaar and bake sale from 11 a.m. until 4 p.m.

It is difficult to believe that someone can differ from us and be right.

Baked Ham and Noodles - 2 tbsp. butter; 2 tbsp. flour; ½ tsp. salt; 1 cup milk; 7 oz. of fine egg noodles; ½ lb. ham chopped fine; 2 oz. grated cheese. Cook noodles. Make sauce of butter, flour, salt, milk; put layers of noodles, ham and grated cheese in greased casserole. Pour sauce overall. Bake 25 to 30 minutes in 350 degree oven. Serves 4.

Mr. and Mrs. Murray Hewitt visited in Whitby and Toronto over the weekend.

Don't forget to come and wish Edith Welch happy birthday this Saturday afternoon. She will be at home to all her friends and relatives from 2:15 p.m. to 5:30 p.m. and hopes you will visit her, but no gifts please.

Mr. and Mrs. Lyle McKnight and Louanne are visiting in California at present.

To those people who are always saying that life is hard, I would like to ask, "Compared to what?"

Greetings once again from the avenue. Well, on Sunday, November 9 the ladies did it again. We took over the church service at St. James Anglican, for Father Brooks, who is presently away. All went very well and we've been the recipients of some very nice compliments. Miss Laura Gaunt gave a very interesting sermon and the whole service was thoroughly enjoyed.

A little reminder: the annual Xmas bazaar will be held at St. Jame's Hall in Kinmount on Saturday, December 6 and we hope to see you there again this year. More about that later.

Sympathy is extended to family and friends of Winnifred Innis who passed away very suddenly, this past week, in Toronto.

"Sis" and Jim Gillis of Galway Road were the recipients of a phone call from England last week and were pleased to learn of the near future visit of Olive and Dick Dyer and their son Kenneth, Mr. and Mrs. Dyer for Xmas and Kenneth to follow in January or February.

Bonnie and Jim Walker were guests of ours for a couple of days and while you're reading this they will be somewhere between Weston and Pinellas Park, Florida where they may decide to stay. This visit was by way of "adieu" til Xmas and then possibly "til the next time". I guess I'm selfish. I'm hoping they decide to come back home.

Branch 441 of the Royal Canadian Legion wishes to publicly thank all who have contributed to the 1980 Poppy Fund. Thanks too, to all the anonymous donors who bought poppies from the counter boxes in local stores. Mention must be made also of Comrade Ab White of Gooderham, who asked for one of our boxes last week and brought it back on Sunday, literally bulging with coins and bills. On behalf of our veterans, we thank you all.

Euchre results at Galway Hall this past week were: men's high - Ken Young; men's low: Harry Stuart, ladies' high: Brenda Longhurst, ladies' low: Ida Young and most lone hands: Frank Franzen. Euchre is played at Galway Hall every Wednesday night beginning at 7:30 and everyone is cordially invited to attend the fun times.

Some of our folk, at present in Ross Memorial, Lindsay, are: Gus Allen, Bert Conway, Bill Dettman and Margarite Curtin. How about a card or a call? It would help cheer them up on these grey days. You know, I sent a card to a man we know, who was in hospital awhile back and just last Monday night I saw him for the first time since he arrived home and he made a special point of coming over to me to say thanks and that I would never know how much that one little card meant to him, coming when it did.

The Xmas cakes are on sale again so if you have one of the school children living on your street why not give them a call and give them your order for a delicious fruit cake. The youngsters are selling them for Kinmount Public School.

Welcome, belated perhaps, but nevertheless welcome to Ron Mitchell, who is doing a fine job of vendor at our Kinmount L.C.B.O. store.

Hang in there Wayne, babysitting isn't so bad and I hear you're doing a super job.

Congratulations to Lloyd Lambert of Kirkfield who was the lucky jackpot winner of $160 at the "Coby" Legion bingo last Thursday night, on the 56th number.

Welcome home to Bill Wilson who has been in Windsor, Ontario for a week or so.

Congratulations to Mary McConnell of Fenelon Falls on her big win at Kinmount Legion bingo Friday night. Mary won hers on the 52nd number. Nice going.

Owen Simpson, Rosedale, visited with John Pyke, Norland, Friday evening., Mrs. Geraldine Simpson called later for a short visit.

I just came across a booklet of recipes which is entitled "November: Fish and Seafood Month". "Good always ...always good". I don't know which November it refers to but I thought you may like to try this one: Bottoms-Up Salmon Cornbread: 2 cans (7¾ oz. each) salmon, 1 tbsp. oil, ½ cup chopped onion, ½ cup chopped green pepper, 1 cup flour, 1 tbsp. baking powder, 1 tsp. salt, 1 tbsp. sugar, ¾ cup cornmeal, 1¼ cup milk, 1 egg, slightly beaten, ¼ cup butter, melted. Drain salmon and flake, reserving the juice. Heat oil and saute onion and green pepper until tender. Add salmon and mix

Wilberforce News

by Winnie Schofield

It has been brought to our attention that the late Bill Riley was not born in Wilberforce as we had supposed but in Burys Green in Victoria County. He came to Wilberforce at an early age and spent most of his formative years here. Bill worked as an electrical engineer for Bell Canada. During the war years he was a wireless instructor with the R.C.A.F. His ancestors were among the earliest settlers in Monmouth.

While people in the cities are flocking to restaurants for meals it looks as though the trend has not yet gained popularity in the cottage country. We are sorry to learn that our fine little restaurant, "The Sprucewood", will soon be closed. Sunday, November 23 will be the last day of operation. It will be a sad occasion for proprietors, Frank and Georgia Phillips, who just a few months ago spent a considerable amount of money to provide an attractive dining area and served well-prepared meals at a reasonable price. Lack of business has forced them to close down. It seems doubtful that they will re-open next year.

On Friday, November 21 at 7 p.m., a craft class will be held in the library basement for children. These craft classes are under the direction of Donna Herbert and Bessie Croft and they encourage the youngsters in the creation of handi-crafts. These classes are always very enjoyable and provide something to take home to show off achievements. The up-coming class will feature the Christmas theme and will possibly include decorations for the big day.

There will be a book exchange at the library this week. Come in and stock up on some good reading material that will provide a welcome escape from so much boring TV watching.

It is not too early to mention the Wild Life Dinner which takes place December 6 at the Lloyd Watson Memorial Centre with dinner served from 5 to 7:30 p.m. Admission is $3 for those under 14 and $5 for adults. We have received a number of calls concerning this popular annual dinner that is sponsored by the Royal Canadian Legion Branch 624.

A shower for Gail Krupa was held at the Legion Hall on Sunday, November 16. Amid friends and relatives Gail opened many beautifully wrapped gifts containing wearing apparel and other necessities for the coming member of the Krupa family who will arrive sometime in the near future. The place of honour was decorated with colourful streamers and a generous luncheon had been prepared for the occasion.

Congratulations to the recently elected members of the Monmouth Council. It is to be hoped that they will support the progressive type of government that Monmouth Township has employed so successfully in the past. We are looking forward to beneficial representation of this area from our re-elected member for the school board.

brought to reality. Murals are displayed mainly on the walls of public buildings.

The Canadians Are Coming was a very appropriate film for Remembrance Day. It was filmed in Holland. It showed us how our Canadian men went from victory to victory and how 6,000 Canadians were killed in the war, did not die in vain.

Wednesday evening, the students of Haliburton High School were here to play euchre, crockinole and cribbage with our residents. It was, as usual, a very successful games night. Thursday afternoon, the Catholic ladies of Minden served a variety of sandwiches and squares at the tea party. It was a pleasure to have Toos Reid and Rose Barry play their guitars and sing for us during and after the tea party. It was a very enjoyable afternoon and we would welcome them back at any time to entertain us.

Thursday evening, the Kinsmen were here to call the bingo numbers. The residents always look forward to the weekly bingo.

The week ended with Grace Coburn leading the sing song. Mr. Fred Ballard was here to play the organ for us. Everyone enjoyed the afternoon sitting around the fire, and singing along with Grace.

January, I hope that our local quilters take advantage of this opportunity to show off their excellent work.

There are many fine quilters in our county as well as in Victoria and Peterborough and as I've been fortunate to view some of their quilts, it would be a shame if they were not entered.

I'm well aware that the crafts person is their own worst critic, it has been evident time and again by their failure to enter competitions.

I sincerely believe the attitude that the crafts person should adopt be one of "nothing ventured, nothing gained". The only way to learn and grow is to actually view your work along side the work of others in your particular field. This enables the crafts person to obtain a perspective of their own work. Think of it as a learning experience. You may very well be surprised at What you have achieved.

"The Call to Entry" is now out fore the "Quilting Competition". TYhere are four categories: Novice Quilt, Traditional Quilt, Original Design and Group Quilt.

If you have been undecided now is the time -- acceptance date must be not later than January 3, 1981 at the Rails' End Gallery. Substantial monetary awards will be given in each of the four categories.

assisted with the service. Special music and hymns were presented by a quartette of young ladies, a duet by Eldon and Sharon Lott and a very special recital and song by a junior trio. The message was given by Brother Warren Easton taken from James I on the topic of coping with trouble.

Next Sunday evening at 7:30 Brother Gary Martin, also from Bancroft will be guest speaker. Gary plans on bringing another group of young people to assist. The Harcourt Chapel appreciates the fellowship and ministry from Bancroft Chapel and extends a welcome to all to be with us.

Along the Trails

by Roy Bates

To Realize a Dream

The grand opening of Ontario's first trans-provincial public snowmobile trail is scheduled for January 17th, 1981. Known as SNO ONE, the trail will extend some nine hundred kilometers from the Quebec border near Alexandria to the shores of Lake Huron in the vicinity of Kincardine.

The motivating force behind this ambitious trail effort is the Ontario Federation of Snowmobile Clubs whose directors and members have had their sights set on a provincial trail grid for a number of years. Recognizing the remarkable progress that individual clubs were making in the development of their own trail systems, the federation encouraged club linkups and the formation of regional associations for greater strength and coordination of effort. The end result will be a grid of public trails located where snowmobilers want to ride. The routing is not dictated by government officials nor by commercial interests.

So many clubs have voiced their desire to participate in this first trans-provincial trail that already several alternative routes are being examined for viability. It is planned to route SNO ONE through as many such clubs as is feasible, while following a more or less direct route through areas of snowmobiler population where accommodations, food, fuel and emergency repairs will be readily available. This will place it roughly parallel to Number 7 Highway until it passes around the southern end of Lake Simcoe and veers northwesterly towards Kincardine.

It is recognized that a snowmobile trail this far south may at times be subject to unsatisfactory snow conditions. It is therefore planned to develop an alternative route in the near future which will utilize the excellent trails and more dependable conditions of Haliburton, the Madawaskas and the Ottawa Valley. A longer ride with fewer service points but a much longer season.

To Serve Cottage Country

Even before this Haliburton alternative to SNO ONE falls into place, and probably as early as this winter, several routes will be developed to link SNO ONE with the cottage and resort areas which lie to the north. Two of these should be routed to serve the Highlands of Haliburton, one from the Kawarthas to Eastern Muskoka and the other from lower Hastings to Eastern Haliburton and the Madawaska Valley.

Development of these routes will undoubtedly be spearheaded by two local snowmobile groups, the Haliburton County Snowmobile Association and the Paudash Trail Blazers. A brief outline of the probably routing of both trails follows.

The H.C.S.A. link:

Anticipating that SNO ONE will utilize the lower portion of the MNR Five Point Trail in the Buckhorn and Bobcaygeon areas, the uncompleted bridge over the Irondale River at Gooderham appears to be the only obstacle to linking the southern sector. The club reports that plans to complete the bridge are well advanced and that construction may be underway very shortly. The H.C.S.A. trail system extends from Gooderham to the Dorset area from whence the route would be continued over other club and MNR trails to Huntsville and beyond.

The Paudash link:

Again, assuming that SNO ONE will pass through the Havelock area which is connected via the MNR Nephton trail to Apsley, the only apparent obstacle appears to be a short section to link at Apsley with the MNR Rathburn trail which is now connected to both the Five Point System and the Paudash club trails. The club's North Trail continues to the Peterson, with branches into Wilberforce and Bancroft, making the link via the McClure Trail with clubs at Maple Leaf, Barry's Bay and ad infinitum.

The two main routes become interwoven as one trail grid serving the entire region by the existing links - the Five Point Trail and the Peterson. A third rung in the ladder could be established fairly easily between Haliburton and Wilberforce.

When these proposed routes are transposed to a map of the province, it becomes instantly discernable that the aforementioned Haliburton alternative to SNO ONE is not only practical, a large part of it is in place already!

Will Business Benefit?

We have repeatedly voiced our conviction that recreational snowmobiling would one day become the lifeblood of winter tourism in this region and would provide a substantial spin-off in benefits to the community in general. That this is now happening was clearly indicated in a survey taken by the H.C.S.A. last March. For those who may not have seen that document, the punch line is that snowmobilers who habitually use the facilities of Haliburton County collectively spend upwards of six million dollars annually in the pursuit of their sport! And the potential market has barely been tapped.

Let us look at some probable trends in the snowmobiler tourist market. Up to now a very high percentage of the county's snowmobilers have been weekenders, many of them being cottage owners making regular use of their own facilities. Many others are attracted to resorts, lodges and motels, with their numbers increasing to the point where, last year, a winter of less than satisfactory snow conditions, No Vacancy signs were frequently in evidence. The most probable effect of SNO ONE and its intersecting trails will be a dramatic increase in snowmobile touring with greater emphasis on the mid-week ride when trails are less crowded and accommodations more readily available. More people will reserve one or two weeks of their annual vacations in order to enjoy the improved snowmobiling. With a little well-placed and properly timed advertising and promotion, Haliburton County can double, or even triple, its snowmobiler business within two or three years.

Will the community benefit? Yes, both in summer and winter. As the demand for accommodations and other services increases, many existing businesses will expand their facilities and more "summer" resorts will winterize their premises. This makes work for local tradesmen and creates full time jobs for the (now) casually employed.

Support your local snowmobile club. It is working for you.

Stanhope Notes

by Alex Stevenson

Area residents will have an opportunity to enjoy an interesting evening at the Stanhope Community Centre hall on November 21 beginning at 8 p.m. Stanhope's traveller and adventurer, Bob Davis will present a showing of his slides taken on his canoe trips in Labrador and in the Northwest Territories. Viewers will get some idea of the daring and stamina required to participate in such a risky test of endurance and canoeing ability. During the intermission coffee and doughnuts will be available to make it a sociable evening. Donations to the Terry Fox Cancer Fund will be accepted so it is a chance to support a good cause and at the same time enjoy a pleasant get-together with other people in the community.

A dance to be held by the Stanhope Airport Committee, November 22 promises to be the usual good time for those in attendance. Further information can be obtained by calling Stan Moore at 754-2428. Then on December 6. Stanhope firemen will be

"WHERE THE ACTION IS"

Gooderham News

by Mary Hadley

The supper held at Highland Grove United Church, sponsored by the Tory Hill Pastoral Charge was an outstanding success, as all former suppers held there have been. All tickets were sold with about 50 waiting patiently and hungrily to see if there might be anything left so they might be served. Fortunately there was enough for all (over 400) with some to spare. The committee deserve much credit for their efficiency and untiring efforts. Thanks to those who worked so hard and also to those good friends who patronized this event.

Mrs. Gladys Monaghan and Miss Elva Whitcombe spent a few days with their sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Fotheringham at their Pine Lake home.

The shower in honour of Miss Janice Simmons was well attended in the Pentecostal Church. Many beautiful and useful gifts were received by the bride-to-be.

Glamorgan Senior Citizens met in the fire hall on Wednesday afternoon. At 12:30 the group sat down to a nourishing and hearty bowl of cabbage soup, rolls, chocolate cake, tea or coffee, prepared by the food convenor, Mrs. Marjorie Madill and her assistants. A special feature was a talk by Gordon Barr on the theme of "Remembrance". Gordon is very interested in past history and is working towards the community having a museum. He recalled his memories of the War of 1914-18 and added interest by displaying a uniform of that time with badges and other accessories. The 45th regiment and later the 109th trained in Gooderham. Gordon and Ivan Hunter, president, both recalled viewing the troops as they practised marching, using their bayonets, etc. At that time Gooderham had a brass band and Gordon showed us a band uniform - quite ornate with gold braid - which he still has. The band instruments seems to have disappeared. He also had many old pictures of that time, showing Barrs, Hunters, Pickens, Madills, Hadleys and others whose names are unknown to present residents.

Vaneita Pickens thanked the speaker, adding some of her memories of the Second World War. The afternoon concluded with cards or visiting. The next meeting takes the form of a Christmas dinner at Graham's Restaurant.

Both the advance poll and the regular poll were busy as the electorate turned out in full force to exercise their democratic privilege. When the count was finalized, the results showed: Reeve - Ken McGuire (acclamation), Deputy-Reeve - Bob McCausland, Councillors - Sandy Barr, Jane Franklin, Larry Hunter, Board of Education - Julie Hunter (acclamation). A sincere "thank-you" to the council of 1979-80 and the Board of Education member, Vaneita Pickens, for their unselfish giving of their time in trying to promote community interests. Congratulations to the new members. May all your efforts in the public service prove rewarding.

We are pleased to report that Ken Webster has returned to his home after a short stay in Haliburton hospital. Best wishes, Ken, for continued improvement!

Gooderham school pupils, were conducted by their teachers on November 10 to the Cenotaph to help teach the children why we keep Remembrance Day. Grades 3 and 4 had previously read all about the history of the times we remember. They all wore poppies they had made and sang "O Canada" in an impressive service there. On November 14 the whole school travelled to the Haliburton High School where they enjoyed the music group "Maple Sugar".

On November 27 the ladies of the Pentecostal Church are holding a "pot luck" luncheon at 12:30. Following the luncheon, a missionary Liisa Jailoss, from Liberia, will address the group and show slides. She is especially interested in youth groups.

A complete missionary convention will be held November 27 through November 30 with missionaries from several countries, including Africa and South America. They will dress in native Costumes, display the flags

Coboconk News

by Shiela Lake

Remembrance Day was observed in Coboconk by comrades of Branch 519 Royal Canadian Legion, attending the 9:30 p.m. service at Christ Church. Immediately following this service, wreaths were placed in remembrance of their fallen comrades by Comrade Edna Pearee for mothers and Comrad Everett Cameron for the Province of Ontario.

A parade of some 60 Legion members, Ladies Auxiliary, Girl Guides and Brownies, marched from the church and to the Legion where a short service was conducted by Comrade Tom Taylor. The Happy Wanderers of Coboconk Seniors Group led in singing O Canada, and God Save the Queen, which was greatly appreciated. Wreaths were again placed at the new cenotaph and our fallen comrades remembered. Last Post and Revallie were played by the Salvation Army bugler.

Lunch was served by the Ladies Auxiliary of Branch 519.

On Wednesday evening, a car load of L.O.B.A. members attended the Ladies Orange Lodge meeting in Minden and report a pleasant time.

Our town is now be-decked with very pretty Christmas lights. The committee in charge of the lights tried very hard to have them up last Christmas season but could not get the lights in time. The very pretty star design lights were put on the poles this week, and add so much to the festive season atmosphere. To those who made the lights a reality, our sincere thanks. Most towns have their lights out by early November and we may be a small "town" but do like to look attractive and "alive".

Now, if only vandals leave the lights alone, all will be well! The flags erected in town have been stolen a number of times, and one front panel of glass at Faith Tabernacle was broken last week. If those who take and destroy would turn their energies into improving and taking pride in our town how much more pleasant life would be.

Carl Powell was transferred from Toronto to Ross Memorial Hospital, Lindsay, last week and is coming along very well following his surgery.

We took in the fowl supper at the Legion in Kinmount last Saturday evening. As always, it was very good and we saw folks there that had also come a distance to take in the dinner.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Spry and daughter were weekend visitors with her parents, the Harold Jackson's at Kilbride.

Mrs. Fred Brecht, Scarborough, visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. Faulkner last weekend.

Mr. Walter Marles and Mr. Alf Zealand of Lindsay were visitors of Mrs. A. Marles last weekend.

holding their party for the children and for Stanhope's Senior Citizens. The firemen advise us that Santa Claus assured them that he will be making a special trip to Stanhope that day just to share a quick visit with the firemen's guests.

Stanhope Township Council voted to adopt the new equalized assessment procedure proposed by the Province of Ontario, at the council meeting on November 12. Deputy Reeve Stouffer registered the only dissenting vote. While the details are not yet public, the suggestion has been made that most of the property owners will not be seriously affected by the change. Hearings on the subject are being arranged but the timing will be dependant on the availability of the officials charged with introducing the measure.

The sudden passing of Stewart Dawson came as a great shock to his family and to his very wide circle of friends. His immediate neighbours feel a deep sense of loss, for Stewart was a friend as well as a dependable neighbour, never known to say an unkind word about anyone. Stewart Dawson was a good influence on his part of the community at Maple Lake.

Legion News

The annual service of remembrance was observed at Branch 129 on November 11 followed by the parade to the cenotaph. The hall was filled to capacity for the morning service which was conducted by a branch padre, Lt. Mailman assisted by the Rev. Trevor Denny. The parade was under the direction of Parade Marshall Lloyd Baker. The turnout of veterans was most gratifying and the Scouts and Cubs, Guides and Brownies made an excellent showing also. The president read the honour roll and this was followed by the wreath laying ceremony. The Province of Ontario wreath was laid by Betty Exon, one of our Silver Cross women. The municipality's wreath was laid, along with others from the Board of Education, church and service groups and several private wreaths including one in memory of Albert, Andrew and Russell Curry laid by Wendy Schell. The Last Post was sounded by Bugler Don Wright followed by the Lament by Pipe Major Earl Cooper. Reveille was sounded after which the parade moved off and returned to the hall. It was a cold clear day with a sharp wind blowing off the lake and everyone was grateful for the hot chocolate, coffee and sandwiches which were served by the L.A. The vets gathered in the club room and enjoyed some fellowship, reminiscences and fine music from the able fingers of Comrade Ray Jenkins.

At 6 p.m. the members, L.A. and invited guests gathered for a most enjoyable social hour followed by dinner at 7 p.m. The dinner was prepared and served by some of our associate members assisted by some younger daughters. Among the head table guests, which was so ably presided over by President Sylvia Sisson, were guest speaker Una Golding, Deputy Zone Commander F5 of Peterborough and her husband Allin, Provincial Chairlady Phyllis Montemiglio, Zone F4 Zone Commander LA Gwen Cox, MP Bill Scott, MPP John Eakins and their wives, Reeve Murray Fearrey and wife Darlene.

The guest speaker was introduced by honours and awards chairman Mel Robertson. Comrade Una gave us an intimate glimpse into the lives of Permanent Force personnel in the years following WWII. Allin Golding had been a career serviceman with tours of duty in France and later Germany interspersed with posting at various stations in Canada. The federal and provincial members spoke briefly and Reeve Fearrey provided a brief insight into the dedication with which the fighting men endured so much hardship. Comrade Phyllis brought greetings from Ontario Command LA and Zone Commander Gwen addressed the gathering briefly. President Irene Higgins LA was called upon to say a few words and at the same time presented President Sylvia with a cheque in the amount of $3000.

At this time the evening was turned over to the honours and awards chairman and a number of members received pins for their years of service.

Bars to the past president's medal were presented to Lloyd Coneybeare and Mel Robertson. Past officer's medals went to Roy Bates and Earl Shipley. Bars to the past officers medal were presented to Ed Fujar, Sgt.-at-Arms, and Wm. Crofts, Treasurer. The chairman next spoke briefly on a very pleasant duty he had to perform, and this was to present life memberships in the Royal Canadian Legion to two very hard-working and deserving members of the branch. He called upon President Sylvia and the guest of honour to assist him in this pleasant task. He then called upon Comrades Cliff Dawson and Don Johnston to come forward and receive these awards.

It was a most moving moment as both of these comrades were completely taken by surprise. All the Dawson family knew of the secret and the children all came to wait on table in order to see their father receive this award. After the president performed the closing ceremony, the tables were cleared and a social time was enjoyed by one and all with music supplied by Earl and Sid Cooper accompanied by Kathleen Owens on the piano.

The Anglican ladies would like to thank all those who came out to help make their rummage sale a success. It wasn't the best weather, being a rainy day, which seems to be par for the course on a sale day, but the rain did hold off quite well during the evening hours which helped the situation.

of the countries they represent and show slides. The meetings will convene each evening at 7 p.m. They should be informative and inspirational. Everyone is invited.

On November 11 a memorial service was held at the Cenotaph in Gooderham. Pastor Sauve conducted the service with a fitting message on "Remembrance". Ken McGuire, reeve-elect, laid a wreath on behalf of the Province of Ontario. A war veteran, Albert White, placed a wreath, donated by Kinmount Legion, on behalf of the veterans. It is good that we should remember those who gave their lives that we might enjoy a good life, then, as Col. John McCrea said, "Take up our quarrel with the foe, To you from failing hands we throw, The torch: Be yours to hold it high."
